Ikea jobs fair Ballymun Civic Offices Atrium

IKEA DUBLIN THE WAIT IS FINALLY OVER

For years thousands of Irish people have been traveling up to Belfast or abroad to shop at IKEA. At last Dublin has it's very own store, right here in the heart of Ballymun.

IKEA's much awaited Grand Opening Day will take place on Monday 27th July 2009. At 30,500 sq metres, the store will be one of IKEA's flagship stores and will stock the full range of IKEA products totalling 9,500 articles. Visitors to the store will be able to view over 55 fully furnished room-sets and homes as well as avail of other facilities and services such as a 550-seater restaurant, a bistro, and a Swedish Food Hall, as well as crèche facilities.

The opening of the new store in Ballymun will create a total of 500 direct new jobs and 50 additional indirect jobs in the provision of additional services such as home delivery, kitchen installation and crèche facilities.

During the recruitment drive, IKEA Dublin worked closely with FÁS, Ballymun Job Centre, Ballymun Partnership and Ballymun Regeneration Ltd to maximise the number of local people given the opportunity to gain employment in the company.

As the open day approaches, Ballymun residents are getting used to spotting the occasional IKEA uniform around the local community and are eagerly awaiting their chance to visit the store.

Back in the store, it's all hands on deck in IKEA and all co-workers are extremely busy filling stock, finalising signage, testing systems and putting finishing touches to the room-sets. All of the room-sets are now complete, the self-serve warehouse is stocked, the restaurant is ready and we are on schedule and looking forward to welcoming our first customers on July 27th.

'IKEA has a passion for home furnishings, inspiration, style and functionality providing great designs at affordable prices', said Garry Deakin, Dublin Store Manager. 'We offer everything customers want under one roof. And our prices are incredibly low ensuring great value for money'.

The opening heralds a brand new era for home furnishing for Ireland. Garry and the IKEA Dublin Team look forward to seeing you there on the 27th.

Breaking Ground exhibitions

Breaking Ground presents an exhibition of documentary photographs of work in progress on the forthcoming equestrian sculpture by John Byrne, in axis from 12th – 26th June 2009.

John Byrne has made a replica of the magnificent horse sculpted by the Irish sculptor John Henry Foley (1818-1874) used in 'The Gough Memorial', which was originally sited in the Phoenix Park. This bold new work references classical equestrian monuments, while subverting that tradition by placing the figure of a teenage girl as the rider of the horse. The sculpture is due to be unveiled in Ballymun in autumn, 2009.

Voices

Cecily Brennan was commissioned by Breaking Ground as part of the BG2 collaborative commission. Five people from Ballymun shared their life stories and experiences with the artist, which were recorded.

These fascinating stories cover a wide range of issues, including alcoholism, sexual and physical abuse, homelessness and self-harm, but perhaps most importantly, the stories demonstrate each individual's capacity to love and to survive hardship. This exhibition opens on the 9th July in the Civic Centre atrium and will run from the 10th July - 28th August 2009.

John Byrne horse arrival
